Outstanding Programmatic Accomplishments:

As County Extension Director, Mr. Mannino provides leadership for all human and material resources in Fort Bend County. Additionally he provides oversight for the development and management of the county budget. A critical role in a county the size of Fort Bend is serving as a liaison with the County Commissioners Court as delegated by the district Extension administrator. Mr. Mannino recruits, selects and supervises urban Extension personnel in diverse Fort Bend County.

His complex job requires the coordination with the Regional Program Directors, Urban Program Director, Community Economic Development Program Director, District Extension Administrator, Senior Administrative Leadership Team and the Cooperative Extension Program at Prairie View A&M University to identify program direction, acquire resources for program enhancement and set priorities for resource allocation to most effectively impact Extension programming for urban clientele. Fort Bend County is truly a diverse county with the need for visionary leadership and management. Mr. Mannino continues to meet these challenges.

Support Statement:

Vince came to Fort Bend County from Jefferson County where he served as County Extension Agent in Horticulture, bringing a fresh approach to the Horticulture Program, conducting an outstanding program in this area that impacted the South Texas Region and as well as the state of Texas. Vince brought that same type of fresh approach to his new job in Fort Bend County where he serves as County Extension Director. He is a great advisor to all of the agents in this county, and he is focused on allowing the agents to do their job and also think outside the box when they plan program efforts for the people of Fort Bend County. Vince is very supportive of all agents in all programs. Mr. Mannino does expect all agents to make quality education efforts in our programs and also that the program has relevance to the community and our state. Vince Mannino is a great man as well as a boss, and he works with his agents side by side. He is a great director and supporter.
